

The 5 C's of Integrated Healthcare:

INTEGRATED CARE
CONFERENCE
MARCH 8-10, 2018
PHOENIX, ARIZONA

CARE, COLLABORATION, COST, COMMUNITY, & CULTURE

Cummings Graduate Institute for Behavioral Health Studies' annual integrated care conference brings together clinicians, thought leaders, providers, educators, students, and executives to explore, discuss, and be inspired by the growing field of integrated care.

The conference will explore examples of how integrated healthcare approaches address pain points in healthcare delivery for patients and providers, and help patients and providers make the gains that are important to them. Topics fall within five categories: Care, Collaboration, Cost, Community, and Culture. Presentations, workshops, and panel discussions will be offered by professionals currently making an impact in the integrated care and behavioral health arenas.

Conference Topics

Care

Patient-centered models of care that improve operational efficiency and patient health outcomes while reducing overall costs

Collaboration

Effective strategies for working across traditional professional silos

Cost

Demonstrating value to stakeholders through return on investment analyses for integration efforts

Community

Strategies and techniques for engaging and empowering communities to work with healthcare organizations to achieve better health for populations

Culture

Improving care by acknowledging the complexity of patient needs and aiming to meet needs by addressing socio-cultural-economical influences on health outcomes
