

The Behavior Web - Conference Scholarships

Scholarship Overview	The Behavior Web has graciously donated $500 to support students enrolled at Cummings Graduate Institute (CGI). The scholarship is to be awarded to enrolled students presenting at conferences. The money is to be used for conference registrations or expenses related to the event. Students must have their presentation accepted in order to be eligible for the scholarship. In addition, recipients of the scholarship are required to mention in their presentation that they received support from The Behavior Web and Cummings Graduate Institute.
Scholarship Application Process	Students who intend to apply should follow the “How to Apply” section. Upon receiving application, the Scholarship Committee for this scholarship will review all applications on a rolling basis. The scholarship award is first come first serve. If an application is deemed acceptable by the Scholarship Committee, the committee will then notify the applicant via email. The review process can take around 2-3 weeks. If more than one application is deemed acceptable the monies will be split amongst awardees and may not match the requested amount.
