Our Culture

These slides are designed to be read, not presented.

BLACK BOX WARNING

If you suffer from a fear of innovation, believe that healthcare will be fixed if we wait long enough for the experts to figure it out, think that clinicians should just treat patients, or believe that psychotherapy is ineffective,

GO NO FURTHER.

Our culture enables our students to disrupt the norms, think entrepreneurially, and be responsive to the demands of the healthcare marketplace.

We are

- ▣ People first
- ▣ Proactive to find solutions
- ▣ Eager to try new things
- ▣ Willing to fail and start over
- ▣ Always working to make things better
- ▣ Accountable
- ▣ Open to feedback
- ▣ Innovative
- ▣ Entrepreneurial

We are NOT

- ▣ Ego first
- ▣ Waiting for solutions to find us
- ▣ Resistant to change
- ▣ Scared of messing up
- ▣ Complacent
- ▣ Quick to blame others
- ▣ Defensive and stubborn
- ▣ Reliant on existing processes
- ▣ Apathetic

Yes!
It's true!

We seek students who are passionate about improving the healthcare marketplace and willing to take risks to change healthcare as we know it.

Let's start with what we offer.

Online Learning

Our 100% online MHL program gives students the opportunity to complete their degree online while balancing their personal lives, commitments, and career.

Rigorous and innovative curriculum

Convenience and flexibility of an online institution

Personalized, student-focused service of a small scale private school

Student Expectations

Communication is the backbone of student success. Prompt, articulate, and efficient communication by email, phone, and within course discussion boards is an expectation.

Respecting deadlines, requests, and the time of others will cultivate a happy and healthy learning environment for students, faculty, and administration. If unable to meet a deadline or request, say something. Silence and avoidance are not an option.

Growth and risk taking are paramount to student success. Students are expected to step outside of their comfort zone in subject matter, assignments, research, and projects. Expect to try new things, invest 100% into ideas, pivot, and start over.

As an online institution, regular and proactive engagement within courses and with faculty is critical. 100% of CGI learning experiences take place virtually. Students are expected to be active learners logging into their courses multiple times per week.

Student Success Tips

You control your destiny.

As a student at a 100% online institution, you control the speed, focus, and quality of your education experience. Own your actions and advocate for yourself.

Be present.

Give your coursework and your interactions with faculty and students your full attention. Communicate with respect. Distractions are only distractions if you let them be.

Take your success seriously.

Pursuing post-graduate education is a massive investment. You're devoting hundreds of hours to studying, researching, and writing in addition to financing your education. Acknowledge the magnitude of this commitment, and make the most of your experience!

If considering the Master of Healthcare Leadership degree,

There are two elements of the MHL program which set it apart from other healthcare administration and management degree programs:

Capstone Project & E-Portfolio

Capstone Project

The capstone project & e-portfolio is an innovative approach to demonstrating competency as a MHL.

The e-portfolio provides a venue for the student to demonstrate mastery of the program outcomes expected prior to beginning the capstone project. The capstone project is applied integrated care project demonstrating innovation in the field and ability to respond creatively and competently to the needs of rapidly-evolving patient population and healthcare environments.

Capstone Project

The MHL capstone project fulfills the master degree requirement in lieu of a traditional thesis project.

Completion of a capstone project includes:

1. An applied integrated care project project that is closely tailored to the student's career goals after graduation, and which reflects a growing area of opportunity in the healthcare marketplace
2. Development of a business plan demonstrating skill in entrepreneurial design, planning, and execution.
3. A scholarly review of literature
