

Prospective Non-Degree Students

Our Culture

These slides are designed to be read, not presented.

BLACK BOX WARNING

If you suffer from a fear of innovation, believe that healthcare will be fixed if we wait long enough for the experts to figure it out, think that clinicians should just treat patients, or believe that psychotherapy is ineffective,

GO NO FURTHER.

Our culture enables our students to disrupt the norms, think entrepreneurially, and be responsive to the demands of the healthcare marketplace.

We are

- People first
- Proactive to find solutions
- Eager to try new things
- Willing to fail and start over
- Always working to make things better
- Accountable
- Open to feedback
- Anti-bullshit

We are NOT

- Ego first
- Waiting for solutions to find us
- Resistant to change
- Scared of messing up
- Complacent
- Quick to blame others
- Defensive and stubborn
- Tolerant of people or processes that stall our work

Yes!

It's true!

We seek students who are passionate about improving the healthcare marketplace and willing to take risks to change healthcare as we know it.

About the Institute

Let's start with what we offer.

About

The Cummings Graduate Institute for Behavioral Health Studies is a DEAC accredited, nonprofit institution offering graduate and professional integrated behavioral health education through a virtual online campus.

The institute delivers post-graduate training to professionals leading to advanced knowledge and expertise in integrated behavioral healthcare.

Our distance learning education offerings were designed to prepare professionals to work in healthcare settings and communities as part of an interdisciplinary team.

CGI Mission

Cummings Graduate Institute of Behavioral Health Studies delivers high quality, innovative, and affordable distance education to prepare healthcare professionals to improve well-being through integrated, locally responsive, and team-based care that is grounded in the Biodyne Model.

Vision

To improve the way
the world experiences healthcare.

Our Culture + Curriculum

What it feels like to be a student at CGI.

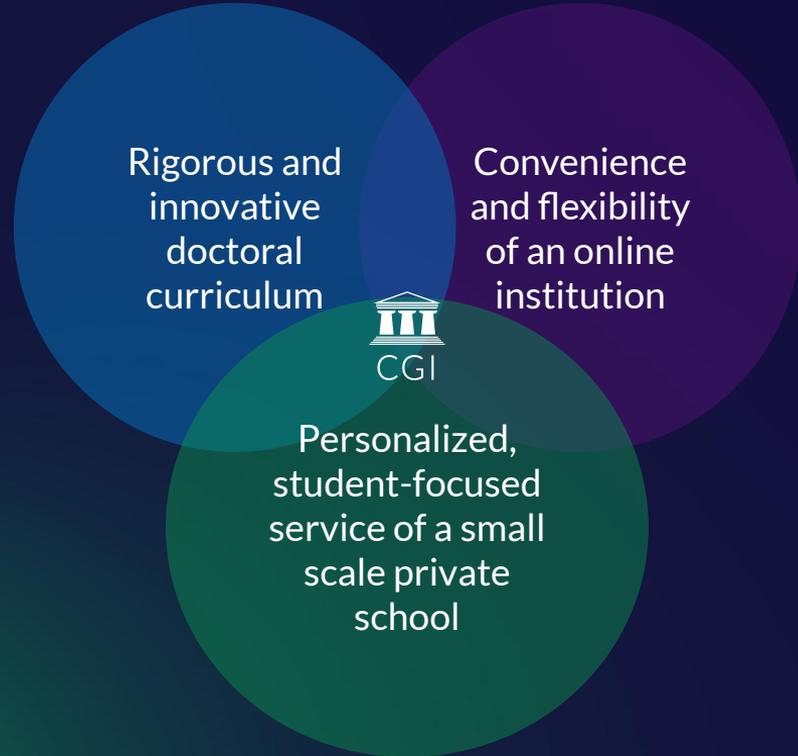

By the way, we refer to our institution as CGI.

CGI is a human centered organization delivering accessible, high-quality, online education to shape tomorrow's healthcare leaders.

Online Learning

Non-degree study at CGI gives students the opportunity to complete their degree while balancing their personal lives, commitments, and professional practice.

Student Expectations

Communication is the backbone of student success. Prompt, articulate, and efficient communication by email, phone, and within course discussion boards is an expectation.

Growth and risk taking are paramount to student success. Students are expected to step outside of their comfort zone in subject matter, assignments, research, and projects. Expect to try new things, invest 100% into ideas, pivot, and start over.

Respecting deadlines, requests, and the time of others will cultivate a happy and healthy learning environment for students, faculty, and administration. If unable to meet a deadline or request, say something. Silence and avoidance are not an option.

As an online institution, regular and proactive engagement within courses and with faculty is critical. 100% of CGI learning experiences take place virtually. Students are expected to be active learners logging into their courses multiple times per week.

Student Success Tips

You control your destiny.

As a student at a 100% online institution, you influence the pace, focus and quality of your education experience. Own your actions and advocate for yourself.

Be present.

Give your coursework and your interactions with faculty and fellow students your full attention. Communicate with respect. Distractions are only distractions if you let them be.

Take your success seriously.

Pursuing post-graduate education is a massive investment. You are devoting hundreds of hours to studying, researching, and writing in addition to financing your education. Acknowledge the magnitude of this commitment, and make the most of your experience!

Impact

We believe that the curriculum and personal mentoring offered at CGI, together with the entrepreneurial culture of our faculty and students, will help you reach your life change goals personally, academically and professionally.

So get out there, and make pigs fly!

Have you seen our mascot? A Pigasus!

And don't forget to have fun while you do it.

Are you more excited at the prospect of studying at CGI than you were prior to reading this deck?

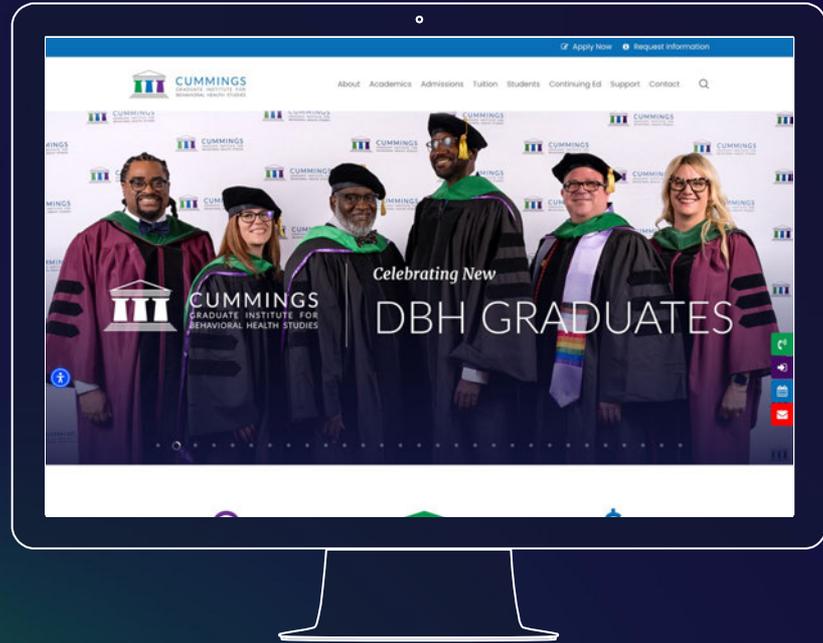

If yes, we cannot wait to see what you accomplish during your time at CGI!
